CONVENTION OF THE NORTHERN POWERS.

From the Stockholm Court Gazette, of the 3d.

Convention for the re-establishment of an armed neutrality, between his majesty the King of Sweden, of the one part and his majesty the emperor of all the Russias, of the other part, concluded and agreed at St. Petersburg, the 4th [16th of December, 1800, accepted and ratified by his Swedish majesty on the 20th, December, and by his Imperial Majesty of all the Russias on the 8th [20th of December,] in the same year.

In the name of the most Holy and undivided Trinity

In order that the freedom of the navigation, & the security of the merchandise of the neutral powers may be established, and the principles of the laws of nations be fully ascertained, during the continuance of the present maritime war his majesty, the King of Sweden, and his majesty the Emperor of all the Russias, actuated by their love of justice and by a reciprocal desire to promote whatever may be for the public advantage of their respective states have to that effect determined to give, new sanction to those principles of their neutrality, which are in their nature indissoluble and to require that they may be respected by all powers interested in their preservation. With this view their majesties have, by the declaration of the 15th of August to the northern courts, who are equally concerned in the maintenance of those general regulations anciently recognized, given them to understand how sincerely it is the object of their hearts to restore, in its full independence, the general right of nations to convey their ships and merchandise freely, and without being subject to the controul of the powers at war. His Swedish majesty imparted his wishes and his sentiments to his great allies, and an happy conformity of their mutual interests has induced them to adopt the resolution of re-establishing that system of such advantage during the American war, and to renew its beneficial principles in convention adapted to the present circumstances. To this end his majesty the King of Sweden, & his imperial majesty of the Russias have nominated, as their Plenipotentiaries, namely, his Swedish majesty, Baron Curtvan Stedingk, Ambassador Extraordinary to his Imperial majesty of all the Russias, Lieutenant-General, Chamberlain of the Queen Dowager, Colonel of a regiment of Infantry, Knight and commander of the order of the Swords, and Knight of the French order Poulx Merites Militaires; and his Imperial majesty of all the Russias, Baron Count

Theodore von Kossloff, his right truly privy councillor, member of the council principal minister of the college of foreign affairs, director gen. of the posts of the empire, grand chancellor and grand Cross of the Sovereign order of St. John of Jerusalem, Knight of the five Orders of the St. Andrew, St. Alexander Newsky, and St. Anne, Knight of the order of St. Lazarus, of St. Ferdinand and St. Hubert, who, after exchanging their respective full powers have agreed upon the following articles.

Article I. His majesty the King of Sweden, and his majesty the emperor of all the Russias, declare that they will strictly prohibit the exportation of contraband merchandise on the part of their subjects with every power whatever, whether at present engaged in war, or which may hereafter be engaged in war.

Art. II. In order to prevent all doubt and misunderstandings as to what shall be considered contraband, his majesty the king of Sweden and his majesty of all the Russias, declare, that they will acknowledge the following articles as contraband namely, cannon, mortars, fire-arms, balls, flints, flint-stones, matches, gun-powder, saltpetre, sulphur, helmets, pikes, swords, hangers, cartridge boxes, saddles and bridles with the exception of such a quantity of the above articles as may be necessary for the defence of the ships and their crews; all other articles not herein enumerated shall not be considered as war or naval stores; they shall not be subject to confiscation but shall pass free and without restraint. It is also hereby agreed, that the present article shall be without restraint. It is also hereby agreed, that the present articles shall be without prejudice to the particular stipulations of former treaties which, the things above mentioned are allowed to be prohibited.

Art. III. And whereas it is resolved, that whatever, by virtue of the foregoing article, can be deemed contraband, shall be excluded from the commerce of neutral nations in like manner, his majesty the king of Sweden, and his Imperial Majesty of all the Russias, will and determine, that all other merchandise shall be and remain free; and in order that the general principles of the laws of nature, of which the freedom of trade and navigation, as well as the rights of neutral nations are the immediate consequence, may be placed under a competent and sure safeguard they have resolved no longer to delay that voluntary explanation, from which they have hitherto been restrained by motives of their separate and temporary interests.

With this view they have hereby determined.

1. That every ship may freely navigate from one harbor to another, and on the coasts of the belligerent nations.

2. That the effects which belong to the subjects of the belligerent powers in neutral ships, with the exception of contraband goods shall be free.

3. That in order to determine what shall be considered as a blockaded harbor, such denomination shall be admitted to apply only where the disposition and number of the ships of the power by which it is invested, shall be such as to render it apparently hazardous to enter, and that every ship which shall go into a blockaded harbor, that is evidently so blockaded, violates the present convention, as much as if the commander of the blockade had previously advised it of the fate of the harbor, and had nevertheless endeavored by force or artifice to obtain admission.

4. That with regard to neutral ships except those which, for just reasons, and upon evident grounds, shall be detained, sentence shall be pronounced without delay; the proceedings against them shall be uniform, prompt and lawful. Over and above the indemnity to which they shall be entitled for the damage they shall have sustained, complete satisfaction shall be given for the insult committed against the flag of their Majesties.

5. That the declaration of the officer who shall command the ship of war, or ships of war of the king or emperor which shall be conveying one or more merchant ships that the convoy has no contraband goods on board, shall be sufficient; and that no search of his ship or the other ships of the convoy, shall be permitted. And the better to insure respect to those principles and the stipulations founded on them, which their disinterested wishes to preserve the imprerisible rights of neutral nations have suggested, the high contracting parties, to prove their sincerity and justice, will give the strictest charges to their captains as well of their ships of war, as of their merchant ships to load no part of their ships, or secretly to have on board any articles, which, by virtue of this present convention, may be considered as contraband; and for the more complete carrying into execution this command they will respectively take care to give directions to their court of Admiralty to publish whenever they shall think it necessary, and to this end the regulation which shall contain this prohibition, under the several penalties, shall be printed at the end of the present act that no one may plead ignorance.

Art. IV. In order to place the commerce of their subjects upon the most legal and permanent basis, his majesty, the king of Sweden, and his majesty the Emperor of all the Russias, have deemed it expedient to equip a number of ships of war and frigates which shall be charged to see that the object obtained, and the squadrons of each power shall take those stations and protect those convoys, which their commerce and their navigation may require, and which shall be conformable to the course of trade of each nation.

Art. V. To provide against all inconveniences which arise from any nation abusing the privilege of their flag, it is established as a regulation not to be departed from that every transport, be it whole or part, belonging to the country whose flag it bears shall have on board a captain, and the half of the crew composed of the subjects of that country; and the passports shall be drawn up in due and regular form. Every transport which shall not observe these regulations or shall violate the command printed at the end of the present convention, shall forfeit all right to the protection of the contracting parties, and the government to which it may belong shall be alone responsible for the loss, damage, or inconvenience it may sustain.

Art. VI. Should it nevertheless happen that the merchant ship of one of the powers should find itself in a situation where the ships of war of that nation are not stationed, and where they cannot have the protection of their own convoys, in such case the commandant of the ship of war of the other power, if it shall be required, shall duly and faithfully afford such assistance as may be necessary. The ships of war and frigates of other nations shall afford protection and assistance to merchant vessels of the other, provided, in the mean time, that the vessel requiring such assistance shall not have violated the principles of the neutrality by having carried on any illicit commerce.

Art. VII. This convention shall have no retrospective operation and consequently it shall have no references to any differences that existed previous to its conclusion. Its applications shall only be to future acts of violence and aggression and it shall form the basis of a system for the protection of all the neutral nations of Europe, whose rights may hereafter be denied or violated.

Art. VIII. Should it notwithstanding all the possible care of the two powers, and notwithstanding the observance of the most perfect neutrality on their sides, so happen that the merchant ships of his majesty the king of Sweden, or of his imperial majesty of all the Russias, should be insulted, plundered, or taken by the ships of war or privateers of one or the other of the belligerent powers, the minister of the injured party shall forthwith represent the same to the government whose ship of war or privateer shall have committed such acts of violence; he shall reclaim such captured vessel, demand due satisfaction, and by no means lose sight of the insult offered to the flag. The ministers of the other contracting power shall also enforce the complaint in the most energetic and determined manner possible, and they shall generally and uniformly act in concert together. Should their just complaint meet with no redress or should be postponed from time to time then shall their majesties have recourse to reprisals against such power as shall have refused to do justice, and that they shall endeavour, by every possible means, to give effect to such reprisals.

Art. IX. Should it happen that one or the other of the powers, or both, on account of, or from dislike to, the present convention, or any circumstance connected with it, should be disquieted, molested, or attacked; in such case it is agreed, that the two powers shall make it a common cause, mutually to defend each other; and they shall reciprocally employ every exertion to obtain full and complete satisfaction as well for the insult done to their flags, as for the injury sustained by their subjects.

Art. X. The principles and regulations stipulated and settled by this present act shall apply to every maritime war, by which Europe may unhappily be disquieted. These stipulations shall also be considered as perpetual, and upon all occasions shall be appealed to by the contracting powers for the regulation of their commerce and navigation, and for the maintenance of their rights of neutral nations.

Art. XI. As the object and main consideration of this convention, is to ensure the general freedom of commerce and navigation, his majesty the king of Sweden, and his imperial majesty of all the Russias, hereby agree, and bind themselves to each other to give their consent that other neutral powers may become parties to its obligations, and partake of its advantages.

Art. XII. In order that the Belligerent powers may not have to plead ignorance of the arrangements concluded between their said majesties, information shall be given to such Belligerent powers of the regulations they have determined upon, which, are so little of a hostile nature, that they can be detrimental to no other country whatever, but, on the contrary are only calculated to secure the commerce and navigation of their respective subjects.

Art. XIII. The present convention shall be ratified by the two contracting parties and the ratification shall be exchanged, in due and good form, within six weeks or sooner, if possible, from the day of signing it.

In testimony of the same, we, the undersigned, furnished with full powers, have hereunto signed our names and affixed our seals.

Given at St. Petersburg, the 4th (16th) of December 1800.

American Intelligence.

Massachusetts.

BOSTON, April 14.
LATEST FROM SPAIN.

Yesterday arrived Schooner Samuel Captain Williams from Malaga, 34 days. Mr. Andrew Belknap, the supercargo, furnished us the following intelligence:

MADRID, March 1.
"War was yesterday declared in the council of war against Portugal. Hostilities will shortly commence. The French army is already within the Spanish lines."

Some Portuguese vessels were detained at Malaga. A French fleet of seven sail of the line and two frigates, had been spoken, bound up the Mediterranean. A small English fleet of three frigate and one frigate, bound up also had been spoken.

VERY IMPORTANT CIRCULAR.

To the agents and Consuls of the United States of America residing in the different ports of France, Spain, Portugal, Italy, the Barbary States, and British Garrisons in the Mediterranean, and to all others whom it doth or may concern.
GENTLEMEN,—

I had the honor to inform you in my Circular of the 12th of November 1800, that certain unjust demands having been made by the Balhaw of Tripoli upon the United States of America, which I found it my duty to repel; that said Balhaw had publicly announced in an official manner that he would declare war against the United States of America, in six months to commence from the 22d day of October 1800, if his demands, which he purposely made in an evasive and indeterminate manner were not complied with. I further inform you that it would be unsafe for our merchant vessels to trade in the Mediterranean, or its vicinity after the 22d of March 1801, as these faithless people generally commit depredations before the period or time allowed is expired—I likewise inform you that I did not conclude in virtue of this promise that our vessels might remain in the Mediterranean until the month of March, but in consequence of this regency being at war with Sweden and the season of the year.

I have now therefore to observe that a treaty of peace and amity have been concluded between his Majesty of Sweden and this Regency, on this day, the third of January 1801, it is now no longer safe for the merchant vessels of said United States of America to trade in those seas or its vicinity, as the Swedes have made the following conditions in consequence of their having 131 of their subjects in bondage; viz:

They have agreed to pay Dollars 250000 including all expenses for peace and ransom of their captives, and 20,000 dollars annually, in consequence of their being permitted to load here 300 tons of salt annually, and as I have every reason to suppose the same terms will be demanded from the United States of America, and that our fellow citizens will be captured in order to insure our compliance with the said degrading, humiliating and dishonorable terms; I find it my duty to request you to take such measures as will most effectually prevent any of our vessels from trading on this sea, until you are advised officially by me or either of our consuls at ALGIERS or TUNIS that this disagreeable affair is terminated which from its nature will require much time, as it extends to making the United States tributary to Tripoli, and must first be authorized by a particular act of the legislature. I therefore request the abovementioned agents and consuls of the United States of America and all others whom it doth or may concern to communicate the contents of this circular letter to all Merchants and Masters of Vessels belonging to the United States in order that they may withdraw their property immediately from these seas, and that our mariners may fly the impending danger. I likewise request them to make the letter circular and to transmit copies of it along the respective coasts of their residence, and likewise to the Department of State, and wherever they may imagine that it will be most likely to answer the desired effect, as I have from hence but few opportunities.

In testimony of the absolute necessity of using the aforesaid precaution before it should be late, I herewith subscribe my name and affix the seal of my office. Done at the Chancery of the U. States of America at Tripoli, in Barbary, this 3d day of January, 1801, and of the Independence of the United States of America the 25th.

CINCINNATI, May 13.

Extract of a letter from an officer at Wilkinsonville to his friend in this place, dated April 19.

"The following intelligence was this day received by express from Fort Pickering, which, if you think proper, you may give publicity.

"A Mr. Davis, of Kentucky, was descending the river to Natchez with his two sons and a number of Negroes—the young men, his sons, stole 13 of the old man's negroes, all his money that they could lay their hands on, stole his perogie and left his boat in the night—at the mouth of the Ohio, the negroes killed the two sons—when they came near to Fort Pickering, sunk their perogie, and was on their way to the Creek nation, when a party of our soldiers apprehended them, and they are now confined in the guard house at the Bluffs. Possibly some person in Kentucky may be interested in the detail."

Lexington, May 25.

A report having been circulated that Doctors Brown and Ridgley have inoculated with the infection of the small-pox in this town, the Editor thinks it his duty to inform the public that the report is (in his opinion) absolutely false.

Two young men have been inoculated with the Vaccine or Cow-pox infection; no medical facts are better established, than that the Cow-pox cannot be communicated by any other means than inoculation—and that the person who has once had it is for ever after incapable of taking the small pox in any manner.

THE Collectors of the Tax, under the act of Congress entitled "an act to provide for the valuation of lands and dwelling houses, and the enumeration of slaves, within the United States" are requested to take notice, that I am authorized and will pay the Taxes, upon application, on all lands and other property, in the State of Kentucky, chargeable to the Executors of Samuel Ball, dec'd.

SACRED TO THE MUSES.

Impromptu, by a Gentleman to a company of Misses, in answer to an ardent invitation to Tea.

[ORIGINAL.]

I know I am of all mankind,
Least pleasing to the female mind,
And let them call me what they will,
I'm not disposed to take it ill.

It is a fact, I was by nature,
A most unsatisfying creature,
And have this talent so improved,
As ne'er to love or be beloved.
I've wander'd in the thorny maze
Of science, from my infant days,
And through ambition to be wife,
I have almost read out my eyes.

Immured in sciences abstruse,
Half out of date, and out of use,
Who could assume an easy air,
And intermingle with the Fair.
Twelve hours each day employ'd in reading,
Where was the time to learn good breeding?

Immured with books both day and night,
What mortal man could grow polite;
And who with a pedantic air,
Would venture to molest the Fair.

Hence faded beauty and ill nature,
Infer that "I'm a woman hater."
A charge extremely hard to prove
On me, who neither hate nor love,
But yet sincerely with the good,
Of all composed of flesh and blood.

I think come where in fables old,
A story apropos is told,
About a Wolf, a fox creature,
Who tried to lay aside his nature,
Mimicking each politer art,
And learning compliments by heart,
With polit'd company would keep,
And offer'd to gallant a sheep.
The sheep was perfectly well bred,
And complimented what he said—
"I own good sir you're very kind,
"And would no doubt amuse my mind,
"But must inform you (with your leave)
"You're very much yourself deceived,
"Your pretence I can never please,
"Your address is at last give ease,
"Your love, I must at distance measure,
"The farther off, the more pleasure."

From this I've learned, with studious
care,
One way at least, to please the fair,
And will pursue that sacred way,
Which is to keep myself away.

FRESH SUPPLY.

MACLEAN & POYZER,
Have just received from Lee & Co's FAMILIAR AND MEDICINE WARE-HOUSE, Baltimore, a Large Supply of the most Celebrated

MEDICINES:
42 Price 1 dollar per packet,
Hamilton's Worm Destroying Lozenges.

Which have, within two years past, given relief to upwards of FIFTY THOUSAND persons, of all ages, in various dangerous complaints, arising from worms and from foodstuffs for obstruction in the stomach and bowels.

A peculiar excellence of this remedy is, its being suited to every age and constitution; contains nothing but what is perfectly innocent; and it is in its operation, that it cannot injure the most delicate pregnant lady or the tenderest infant of a week old, should no worms exist in the body—It will, without pain or giving cleanse the stomach and bowels of whatever is foul or offensive, and thereby prevent the production of worms and many fatal disorders.

Description of Worms, and the symptoms by which they are known.

Worms which infect the human body, are chiefly of four kinds, viz. the Tereos or large round worms, the Ascarides, or small round worms, and lastly, the Teneos, or tape worms, so called from their resemblance to tape; this is often many yards long, and is full of joints—It is most hurtful, and most difficult to cure.

Among the symptoms attending worms are, disagreeable breath, especially in the morning; bad and corrupted gums; itching in the nose and about the teeth; Convulsions and epileptic fits, and sometimes protrusion of the tongue; starting and grinding of the teeth in sleep—Irregular appetite, sometimes loathing food, and sometimes voracious—Fumigating with filny and fatty stools—Vomiting—Large and hard belly—Pain and sickness at the stomach—Pains in the head and thighs, with looseness of spirits—Slow fever, with small and irregular pulse—A dry cough—Excessive thirst—Sometimes pale and unhealthy countenance, and sometimes the face bloated and flushed.

Persons afflicted with any of the above symptoms, should have immediate recourse to HAMILTON'S WORM DESTROYING LOZENGES, which have been constantly attended with success in all complaints similar to those above described.

Children generally take this medicine with eagerness, having a pleasing appearance, and an agreeable taste.

We shall give occasionally, an account of cures, selected from a number of persons in this State.

For the cure of Ague, remittent and intermittent Fevers.

Thousands can testify of their being cured by these drops, after the bark and every other medicine has proved ineffectual; and not one in a hundred has had occasion to take more than one, and numbers not half a bottle.

These drops are particularly recommended to the inhabitants of low marshy countries, where the worst sort of agues generally prevail, which unless early attended to and speedily removed, injure the constitution exceedingly, and brings on dropsy, putrid fevers, and a variety of complaints, of the most dangerous and alarming nature. Many other medicines are daily offered to the public as the cure of this disorder, which, upon trial have been found either dangerous or useless. The bark is the usual remedy made use of, but being a very nauseous medicine, and seldom taken in sufficient quantity, it very often fails; and children, and those who have weak stomachs, are frequently lost for want of a more easy and pleasant remedy.

The testimony of a number of persons in each of the above places can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy, has under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, as to be used with safety by persons in every situation, and of every age.

They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile, and prevent its morbid fermentation; restore and amend the appetite; to produce a free perspiration, and thereby prevent colic, which are often of fatal consequence.—A dose never fails to remove a cold, if taken on its first appearance.—They are celebrated for removing bilious coliciveness—flatulency at the stomach, and feverish head ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.
